

Make sure  $R1=R2=R3=R4$  and that they are large to reduce the error caused by base current and self heating. This also results in a much larger input voltage range for a given output error. Q1/Q3 and Q2/Q4 must be matched to reduce error resulting from  $I_s$  variations.

.tran 50m startup

